

24 March 2015

Notice of GBB Medium Term Capacity Publishing Policy

From 8 January 2015, GBB Facility operators are required to provide Medium Term Capacity Outlooks for their facilities to AEMO to be published on the GBB, where this is defined in the National Gas Rules (NGR) as:

medium term capacity outlook for a BB facility means information that the operator of that facility issues to relevant BB shippers about matters expected to affect the daily capacity of the facility for an outlook period extending beyond the current short term capacity outlook provided by the relevant operator and includes any updates to information previously issued.

This capacity outlook information is provided to AEMO via email, and is then published on the GBB website. However, several participants are providing information relating to maintenance and changes at their facility, which do not affect the capacity of these facilities.

Publishing non-capacity related notices is not required by the NGR or the BB Procedures. From 24 March 2015, AEMO will filter any notices received, and will only publish notices related to impacts on facility capacity.

If you have any queries relating to the publishing of any data on the GBB, please email bbo@aemo.com.au.

Gas Bulletin Board Operations Team
